SECTION TWO

2. DETAILS OF THE PRODUCT SUBJECT TO APPLICATION

The information provided by the applicants related to the definition of the product, fields of use, technical specifications and production and marketing of the product subject to safeguard measure application are given in the below sections.

2.1. Definition

The product subject to application has been defined as "cotton yarns" which are the products produced by the process of the cotton fibers has been opened, cleaned, mixed, and formed as gauze and ribbon and spinned and bobined in the demanded types.

The definition of domestically manufactured and imported goods is the same.

2.2. Fields of Use

The product subject to application is used as main input in the production of the woven and knitted fabric.

2.3. Customs Sub-Heading Numbers

The product subject to application is classified under the below mentioned Customs sub-headings within Turkish Customs Tariff Schedule for the year 2008.

Customs Sub-Headings	Product Definition
52.05	Cotton Yarn (other than sewing thread), containing 85 % or more by weight of cotton, not put up for retail sale.
52.06	Cotton Yarn (other than sewing thread), containing less than 85 % by weight of cotton, not put up for retail sale.
52.07	Cotton Yarn (other than sewing thread) put up for retail sale.

2.4. Production Process and Technical Specifications

The main spinning systems worldwide in cotton yarns production are open-end, ring and air jet spinning systems. The ring and open-end spinning are most commonly used systems in cotton yarns production in Turkey.

The below operations are done in the first stage of production process:

- Harvest- Fluffing Operation: The cotton, which has been taken as bale, are transformed to small clusters from big clusters and the vegetable waste in the cotton are separated and the cotton is perfectly mixed.
- Combing Operation: The cotton fiber passed from the harvest-fluffing operation, is opened up to become one fiber, the short fibers are separated by combing the fiber.
- Traction Operation: 5-8 units of the ribbons gained in the previous operation are subject to traction operation by combining in the machine.
 Combing and once again fluffing is done by providing the parallelism of the fibers in the traction machine, As a result of this operation one ribbon has been gained.

The operations mentioned above are similar in both open-end and ring systems. The differences of two systems and product types are below:

In the open-end spinning system, the ribbon obtained in the previous stage are fed to the inside of ribbed rotor circling very high speed and adhere to the rotor surface by the effect of centrifugal force. The yarn production has been realized when the yarn stretched to the rotor and pulled forwards continuingly. The produced yarn is bobined and packed and become ready for use. The produced product is defined as "open-end" in the market.

In the ring spinning system, the fiber in the form of ribbon gained in the previous stage, formed to fuse as a result of thinning with pulling. The fiber in the form of fuse is thinned with appropriate pull to wanted yarn number in the yarn machine. The yarn production has been realized as giving the curl in the determined rate according to the yarn type. The produced product is defined as "carded yarn" in the market.

In the ring spinning system, the "combed cotton yarn" can also be produced. The only difference in terms of production systematic between carded yarn and combed yarn is the combing process. In the combing operation the second and more sensitive combing operation has been done. For this firstly, 20 and 28 ribbons combined and form a pad, the combed ribbon, gained by intensive combing the pads which are entered the combing machine, are spinned in the ring system and the "combed yarn" production has been realized.

2.5. Comparison of Domestic and Imported Products

The applicant declared that the fields of use of the domestic and imported cotton yarns are the same, raw material and the production techniques of the said product do not show differences between the domestic and imported products, both the domestic products and the imported products are sold directly to the firms producing woven and knitted fabrics or are sold to fabric producers by the wholesaler-distributor firms. In the application, it has been defined that the cotton yarns produced by the domestic firms and imported ones have the same or alike features concerning the technical and physical features, varieties, channels of sale and fields of use, so they can be evaluated as like or directly competitive products.

SECTION FIVE

5. UNFORESEEN DEVELOPMENT

In the safeguard measure application, the evaluations related to the unforeseen development that caused the increase in the imports of product subject to application are summarized below.

When the developments evaluated in the world cotton market between 2004-2007, it has been understood that the increase of world cotton consumption was at higher rates compared to increase in the world cotton stocks. When it is considered that the cotton is used most intensively in the yarn production, the increase of the cotton consumption in recent years worldwide at high rates indicates to the increase of the cotton yarn production at a rate higher than expected.

In recent years as a result of appreciating YTL (New Turkish Lira) against the other currencies, the domestic producers lost their competitive power and faced with the price suppression from imported products along with the higher than expected rate of increase in worldwide cotton yarn production.

SECTION SIX

6. CAUSALITY BETWEEN THE INCREASE IN IMPORTS AND SERIOUS INJURY OR THREAT OF SERIOUS INJURY OF DOMESTIC PRODUCTION

In the safeguard measure application, it is declared that, the main reason for the serious injury and threat of injury in domestic industry is the continuously increasing imports in recent years and surging imports in 2007. In the application, it is stated that, other factors such as; shrinking consumption, drop in exports, increase in competition between domestic manufacturers in the domestic market, excess domestic production capacity above demand, development of alternative products, high depreciation cost arising from new investments did not cause serious injury and threat of serious injury on domestic industry.

SECTION SEVEN

7. SAFEGUARD MEASURE REQUESTED TO BE INTRODUCED ON IMPORTS

In the safeguard measure application, the applicant requested in line with Safeguard Measures on Imports Decision (2004/7305) (OG Date and No: 29.05.2004 -25476) and Safeguard Measures Regulation (OG Date and No: 08.06.2004 -25486), for the product subject to application (cotton yarn, which is classified in the sub-headings 52.05, 52.06 and 52.07)

- In order to prevent the injury and threat of injury on the domestic sector, of the increased imports, it is requested that for 3 years, a safeguard measure adopted at a level between 1,25 1,75 USD on kg to all countries,
- The imports have demonstrated sudden and sharp increase in 2007. As increasing imports cause a serious injury on domestic production particularly in last 3 months of 2007 and serious injury and threat of serious injury is still exist, it is requested to adopt provisional safeguard measure due to the fact that critical circumstances exist in which delay would cause damage which it would be difficult to repair

Furthermore the applicant expressed their objective to adopt a modern management systems aimed at increasing productivity and controlling costs effectively and by reaching a more flexible production structure during imposition of the safeguard measure.
